

RES GESTAE DOMINI PIPERIS

Salvete, lectores!
Ecce meam fabulam de Anglico domino,
cui nomen est Piper,
stulto profecto necnon vili
cum Pays, servo Indiano, in Indicis silvis!

Quis sum, o mei lectores?
John Tenniel est meum nomen,
mihi est fama delineatoris.
Londinium fuit mea patria,
quae mihi dedit honores.
“Alicia” et aliae fabulae
mei maximi labores.

Per lacum in rati
eunt Piper et Says.
<<Videsne illum aprum?
Mmhh, iam gusto saporem,
si addes in oleo sal vel maris rorem>>.

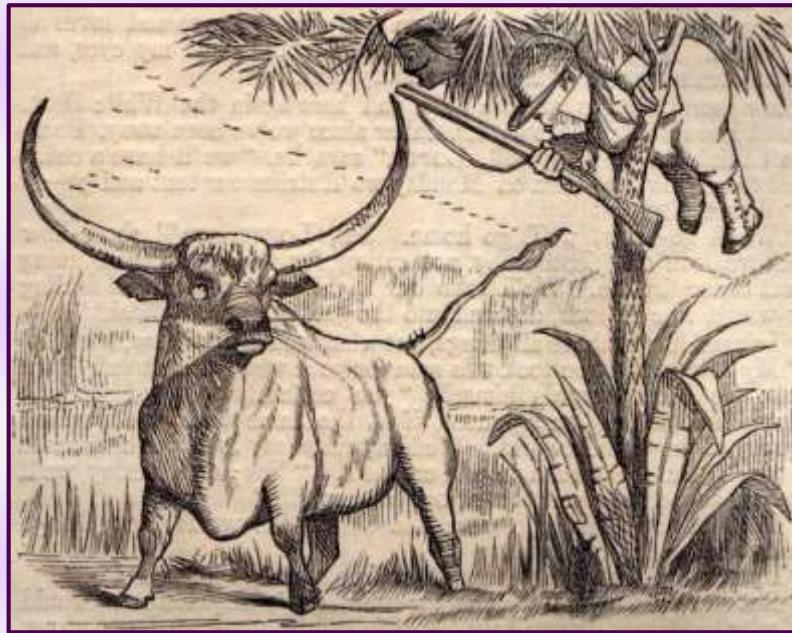

Audivit ille aper verba funesta,
et statim adcessit ad miseri terga.

<<Adiuva me, adiuva me, auxilium mihi
ferte, iam morior, misellus, in aqua putente>>.

Et fugit, perterritus, dracone adveniente.

In frondibus palmae nunc iactat sua tela,
est facile ex alto necare beluas.

<<Pervalidus sum, pulcherimus ero>>,
iactat se Piperus vultu fero.

At servus: <<Est stultus profecto meus
lepidus erus: si tum ego abessem,
is in Inferis esset>>.
